

The Question everybody wanna know is what i got out of my strive experience. For me strive was a very experience Program that ~~the~~ taught me the fundamentals about searching for a job, And taking this three month week course i can honestly say that i had no idea what i was doing, Filling out a job application consist of filling me filling out my name and signing it everything else was left pretty much blank and left open for interpretation which is an absolute NO-NO in strives book of things that you shouldn't do while searching for a job. Strive has taught me to put my best foot forward so that the next position that i do apply for i will have fighting chance at that position and not be taking out of consideration before i even get an interview. They've taught us Punctuality, Persistence, and to be accountable not in just getting the job but keeping it and it takes all those things in order to remain employed in this day and time

From this day on, my outlook on life is to continue to put my best foot forward and not let myself slide back into the self-destructing ways of my old life - where i think everything was suppose to come easy or it was suppose to be handed to me. Strive has taught me nothing comes easy and if you want something you have to get up off your couch and go get it. You will never get what it is you truly desire. In life we have choices to make in each and every turn and two choices that strive has taught me will stick with me for a lifetime. Ms. Tizah Kemp says it best. "You can either Plan to Fail, or Simply fail to Plan."

Today and tomorrow is a day to Put all feelings Aside and celebrate Your achievements. Develop an attitude of gratitude and give thanks for everything that happens to You, knowing that every step forward is a step toward achieving something bigger and better than Your current situation.
