What I got from my 3 weeks at Strive was to change the way that I think and it also changed my attitude I met people that had the same thing in common as me and that is needing to know the tools of how to go about getting a job and keeping it they showed how to dress appropriately and how to ask for help when I need it and to stop being afraid to talk in front of people which I always had a problem doing (I'll get it down pack one day)

I learned alot about of things I didn't know like how to come on time and be prepared for work the Strive program helped me with how to market myself. I learned not to leave ~~any~~ empty spaces on my application how to write a Commercial and about (Cops) communication, outlook personal responsibility, performance, Standard i learned about ~~the~~ artificial barriers. I learned why business don't hire people that don't give eye contacts and people that don't fill out applications the right way I got to my hard skills, soft skills, transferable skills Conflict Resolutions why people get terminated in 45 days after they got the job. I got that without my education i am limited to do but so much. But still let us know that ~~we~~ I should get my education. in conclusion I will be coming to back any chance I get to learn more.
