Three weeks ago I walked into the classroom thinking this is just another class where all I have to do is show up but as soon as I heard Ms S's first words I knew right then and there she meant business and I smiled because I knew this is exactly what I needed. The past six months all the jobs that interested me were ones that I had to fax resume or email them I can't even count how many resumes I faxed by September the fire went out and I had giving up. So I wasn't really sure what to take out of the class at first especially when we started at thirty people and within the first week we were down to eighteen. Ms S you taught me be professional, organized, and to be well prepared not just for jobs but in life. I thank you for that. I'm the kind of guy that helps to himself and if I need anything I would get it myself and if I couldn't get it I use to say I guess I don't need it.

But after going to Strive Ms S, Mike and you guys taught me its ok to ask.
I've been robbed by my so called friends and back stabbed by people I loved and over the years I built a wall. After graduating Strive I can honestly say you guys tore down that wall. Thank you. I could never talk in front of a group before I came to Strive now I have no problem speaking my mind or saying whats on my mind. And you taught me that you can still have fun + joke but be serious at the same time. As for Mike well I told him more about myself in the last three weeks than my last girlfriend of eight years. Not only did I learn how to correctly fill out an application, be organized, highly motivated and to be focused and prepared but over the last three weeks you taught me to take a good look at myself and ask myself what kind of person am I and what do I want + where am I going.

Thank you
